“ I can't say good bye, Daddy. I miss you so much already. I will never forget our long talks and laughing with you, watching the basketball games and horse races together over the phone. I remember the ice rinks you built for us when we were small and all the good times out at the lake and then you would carry me in to bed when we got home late at night. I remember you taking me to a play in Detroit with my grade school class The Princess and the Pea and I felt so special to be there with my Dad. You always made me proud. I would choose you all over again, Daddy, and not change a thing. I sure will miss looking into those beautiful blue eyes. I love you with all my heart. First Daughter
