“ I remember the times during my childhood going to Grandma and Grandpa's home to visit with our family. One of those memories would be running through the "huge" house with all of my cousins. There would be Christmas parties, super bowl parties and many other times that included family members. My memories would also include times when the family would gather at the "cottage". My Grandma was a loving, caring, selfless person. She remembered each of our birthdays even though there were so many. She seemed to always be in the kitchen. She was an awesome cook . Her granola and meatballs were the best! I will love you always Grandma.
